

Casey Christman has served as Chief of Staff for State Representative Dan Huberty since his initial election in 2010. Prior to, Casey managed his election campaign. She has also worked on the re-election campaign of Governor Rick Perry, after serving on his capitol staff during the 81st Legislative Session. Casey also worked at The White House for President George W. Bush in 2007.

She is an avid volunteer for many local organizations and has even been honored as a Woman of Achievement by FamilyTime. Casey serves in leadership roles across the community and is constantly looking for more ways to help others.

She received her Bachelor of Arts in Public Relations from Washington State University in 2005; and her Master of Public Service and Administration from The Bush School at Texas A&M in 2008.

She has a true appreciation for public service and believes that it truly is "a noble calling", as President George H. W. Bush once said. Casey was born in Kingwood, where she just recently moved into her first home.

She is the youngest of five children between her parents, Gary and Theo Christman. In her spare time, she enjoys spending time near the water with her family and friends with a glass of wine.
